The Commission found that "The Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, commonly known as SNCC, is extensively Communist-dominated, and its leadership substantially follows the Communist party line . . . (SNCC) is an agent of the Communist conspiracy and measures up to every definition of a Communist Party front."

(N.Y. News, 6/30/65; U.S. News & World Report, 7/12/65)

The Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) was singled out by the Alabama Commission report as being "an important arm of the pro-Communist conspiracy and a dedicated agent working toward the sovietizing of America." CORE's national director, James Farmer, is married to a white woman, and according to the N.Y. Times, considers interracial children to be one of the "beauties of integration."

It is significant to note here that the leader of the recent protest marches in Chicago, Albert Raby, a Negro, is also married to a white woman. Chicago's Mayor, Richard Daley, stated at a press conference (June 30, 1965) that "many of the people that are marching are Communists . . . The police department files show this is true." Joseph Morris, deputy police superintendent of Chicago, said that 11 protest marchers were either Communists, members of Communist-front organizations, or persons who had invoked the Fifth Amendment to avoid testifying before the House Committee on Un-American Activities. (U.S. News & World Report, 7/12/65 Newark Star-Ledger, 7/25/65)

On July 2, Illinois Communist leaders admitted that there were Communists in the Chicago demonstrations and on July 10, Martin Luther King's brother, Rev. A. D. King, said there "undoubtedly" are Communists in the protests. On July 1, Martin Luther King, himself, said that Communists do work "here and there" but do not influence the movement.

REV. KING & PALS

The Alabama Legislative Commission report found that the Rev. Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING, who is head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, "has been for ten years . . . closely advised by Communists if not actually controlled by them." (N.Y. News, 6/30/65)

On June 22, 1965, about 800 volunteers began a six-day orientation program in Atlanta, Georgia for work in Martin Luther King's summer project, "Summer Community Organization and Political Education." The director of the orientation program was Bayard Rustin, who was Martin Luther King's secretary from 1955-1960. Rustin was in Federal Prison for draft evasion from March 7, 1944 until June 11, 1946. Bayard Rustin was arrested in January, 1953 by the Pasadena, California police and charged with sex perversion. He pled guilty and served a 60-day sentence. (Report of the Florida Legislative Investigation Committee, page 53, February 1965; N. Y. Times 6/20/65) (Los Angeles Times, January 22, 23, 1953).

On July 24, 1965, Martin Luther King arrived in Chicago to lead the demonstrations along with his top aide, Rev. Ralph Abernathy. The Hackensack Record (6/18/65) reported that King regards Abernathy as his close personal friend as well as movement associate.

According to the sworn testimony in Circuit Court of Montgomery County, Ala., case No. 8741, Reverend Abernathy seduced a 15-year-old member of his church and had not only illegal relations with her but had unnatural relations with her.

(Rep. Dickinson's Speech, Cong. Record, 4/27/65)

U.S. TAXPAYERS & REDS JOIN HANDS TO FINANCE "CIVIL RIGHTS" AGITATION

Chicago's Mayor Daley had an additional comment to make at his June 30 press conference: "Communists are helping to finance the protest movement."

The Garland Fund which was a "major source for the financing of Communist Party enterprises" lists on page 23 of its February 1929 Report, a donation of $15,000 to the "National, New York and Brooklyn Urban League . . ." The February 1926 Report, page 24, lists a $1,000 donation. The July 21, 1923 Report, page 16, lists a $500 loan. The 1926 Garland Fund Report lists another gift of $2,000, etc. The NAACP was also well financed by the Garland Fund with $31,552 in 1925-28; $7,365 in 1923-24; $5,000 loan (1929-30). (Special Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 1311 on the CIO Political Action Committee, March 29, 1944, pp.75 and 76; Roosevelt Red Record, page 230, and The Red Network, page 166, by Elizabeth Dilling)

The New York Times reported on July 17, 1965, that the National Urban League and its local branches throughout the country have "quietly become an important channel through which Federal funds are being moved into manpower training, retraining and other facets of the antipoverty program . . . local Urban leagues in 20 cities have been allocated about $5 million . . . Last year, the grants totaled $500,000." The N.Y. Times also said that Whitney M. Young, Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, had signed a contract with the U.S. Dept. of Labor, under which programs would be conducted in 8 cities with allocations totaling about $2 million (of taxpayers' money).

The Department of Labor's Bureau of Apprenticeship Training and the Office of Economic Opportunity had selected the National Urban League for the Federal programs because of its experience in opposing housing and employment discrimination. The Government departments were also offering policy-making and operational positions to members of the NATIONAL URBAN LEAGUE and the NAACP. It was disclosed on July 16, that Whitney Young had refused an offer from Sargent Shriver, the Federal anti-poverty director, to become his deputy director in February 1964.

Whitney M. Young Jr., has this to say about Communist influence in the civil rights movement:

"Are there Communists in the rights movement? I can only say that there are darn few Communists left anywhere in America today; that the rights movement is a big factor in their decline . . ."

(Newark Sunday News, July 4, 1965).

What about the financial support of the "false prophet of the far left", as the Alabama Legislative Commission described Martin Luther King. The National Jewish Post & Opinion reported on May 21, 1965 that King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference had received $12,000 from the Philadelphia Jewish Community. The International Ladies Garment Workers Union, (David Dubinsky, President), recently contributed $15,000 to Rev. King's activities. (Justice, 4/15/65)

On September 28, 1963, Karl Prussion, a former F.B.I. counterspy from 1947 to 1960, submitted a sworn affidavit which said in part: "... from the years 1954 through 1958 I attended five county committee meetings of the Communist Party of Santa Clara County, Calif. . . I hereby further solemnly state that at each and every meeting . . . one Ed Beck, Communist, who is presently secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People of San Mateo County, Calif., and a member of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), presented the directive from the district office of the Communist Party in San Francisco to the effect that: "All Communists working within the framework of the NAACP are instructed to work for a change of the passive attitude of the NAACP toward a more militant, demonstrative, class struggle policy to be expressed by sit-ins, demonstrations, marches, and protests, for the purpose of transforming the NAACP into an organization for the achievement of Communist objectives."

"I further swear and attest that at each and every one of the aforementioned meetings, one Rev. Martin Luther King was always set forth as the individual to whom Communists should look and rally around in the Communist struggle on the many racial issues.

"I hereby also state that Martin Luther King has either been a member of, or wittingly has accepted support from, over 60 Communist fronts, individuals, and/or organizations, which give aid to or espouse Communist causes."

Earlier this year, a group of 14 members of the House of Representatives made themselves a committee and went to Selma, Alabama to look into the situation there. When Judge Bernard Reynolds, probate judge of Dallas County, started mentioning the fact that there were Communist influences at work in Selma, he was interrupted by one of the visiting Congressmen with this remark: "We don't care anything about that. Let's leave the Communists out of this."

When they arrived back in Congress, 13 of the 14 members of this self-styled investigation committee voted against an appropriation for the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

One of the primary aims of the Communist Party, U.S.A. is to destroy our moral strength. The sex orgies that occurred during the Selma-Montgomery demonstrations were an effective medium through which to accomplish this objective.

The Communists are making frightening headway in their effort to make this once great nation bury itself. To consider it otherwise, is precisely what the Communists want and expect us to do.

America must substitute reason and fact for blind emotion, and wake up before it is too late.
